My Pal Al

A message from our founder, Albert Pooley

It is with great pleasure and enthusiasm that I welcome each of you to NAFFA's 22nd Annual National Conference, now proudly carrying the name Fatherhood is Sacred® / Motherhood is Sacred®. Thank you for joining us for this special occasion. Whether you are returning to reconnect with longtime friends or attending for the first time, I encourage you to take the opportunity to renew old friendships, build new relationships, and share your experiences. Remember, you are part of the NAFFA family, and we are delighted to have you with us.

NAFFA continues to expand its reach by training new facilitators through both in-person and online instruction and welcoming additional agencies into our programs. Our facilitators are the heart of our outreach, carrying NAFFA's message of hope, responsibility, and stronger relationships into communities throughout the country and world. Through their dedication, they help strengthen, preserve, and reunite families through Fatherhood is Sacred® / Motherhood is Sacred®, and other NAFFA curricula. Their commitment, compassion, and tireless efforts to make a difference in the lives of individuals and families have been truly phenomenal. We are grateful for each of them and the important work they do.

Our National Conference continues to make a meaningful impact by inspiring participants to strengthen their personal character, demonstrate integrity, and develop a greater desire to seek and live by truth. This year, we have brought together outstanding speakers and engaging workshops designed to encourage learning and personal growth. I especially hope you will enjoy the Family Village, featuring 16 healing activities that offer opportunities for discovery, connection, and renewal.

As you participate in this year's conference, I invite you to make yourself at home. Consider NAFFA, our facilitators, and your fellow participants an extension of your own family. We are here to learn from one another, encourage one another, and work together toward our shared purpose of strengthening individuals, relationships, and families.

I would personally welcome the opportunity to meet each of you, learn more about your work, and hear about the difference you are making in your communities. May this conference renew your sense of purpose, strengthen your relationships, and inspire you to continue making a positive difference in the lives of others.

CONFERENCE HIGHLIGHTS

Keynote By Frantz Beasley

From Cycles to Calling: Restoring Families, Rebuilding Lives, and Redefining Justice

A keynote on breaking cycles of incarceration and trauma, restoring families, and building pathways to healing, accountability, and generational change.

Keynote By Miriam Delphin-Rittmon

Communities Know What They Need to Heal

Dr. Miriam Delphin-Rittmon, Chief Programs Officer at Advocates for Human Potential and former U.S. Assistant Secretary for Mental Health and Substance Use, led national efforts at SAMHSA to embed Tribal health and healing practices into federal policy, expanding what counts as evidence in behavioral health to include community-defined and culturally grounded care. Her work took her to 13 Tribal Nations, led to the launch of the 7 Generations American Indian/Alaska Native Behavioral Health Center of Excellence, and, after Tribal consultation, extended the Tribal Opioid Response grant period to give communities the time they needed to heal on their own terms. In this keynote, she shares what it means to build systems, and strengthen families, by listening first.

Keynote By Donovan "Beef" Archambault

Laughter, Healing, & Fatherhood

This engaging presentation explores the powerful connection between humor, personal healing, and the role of fatherhood as it pertains to Native culture.

CONFERENCE HIGHLIGHTS

Plenary By Albert Pooley

Today'sTruest Heros

Single Parenting & Kinship Care explores the important role single parents, grandparents, and kinship caregivers play in keeping families strong, safe, and connected. Participants will gain encouragement and practical guidance on overcoming challenges, building acceptance and belonging, strengthening communication, and creating loving, supportive homes where children and families can thrive.

Plenary By Albert Pooley

Re-Entry: A New Approach

Re-Entry: A New Approach helps individuals rebuild their lives through self-worth, identity, purpose, hope, and personal responsibility. The presentation emphasizes that positive change is possible.

Plenary Panel Discussion

Rooted & Rising

Back by popular demand, the youth panel discussion allows you to hear from youth leaders. Native youth leaders from around the area will answer questions. Moderated by Jill Gray.

Family Village

Family Village Activities

It take a village! Participate in a variety of family friendly activites. Have fun, learn a skill, reflect on family. Two hours will not be enough time!

CONFERENCE WORKSHOPS

Dr. Matisa Wilbon

Dad and Co: Co-Parenting Maturity and the Parenting Team Mindset

Dad and Co reframes co-parenting as a leadership practice, equipping parents to move from personal tension to shared stewardship of a child's well-being. Participants will learn how "co-parenting maturity" shapes communication, conflict, consistency, and trust across households, even when the adult relationship is strained. Using practical tools from the Dad and Co curriculum, the session walks through a clear framework for building a functional parenting team, defining roles, and creating workable agreements for time, decisions, and discipline. Attendees will practice language that lowers defensiveness, strengthens accountability, and keeps the child out of adult conflict. The workshop closes with a simple action plan that practitioners can use immediately with fathers, co-parents, and support circles.

Harrison Crawford

Rethinking Father Engagement: Trauma Informed Care That Fits

Trauma-informed care is not a one-size-fits-all approach to working in the behavioral health field. A truly TIC approach involves recognizing different needs for different groups (e.g., based on gender, race, SES, etc.), and approaching each population with intentionality and curiosity. This session focuses on applying TIC principles to working with fathers, highlighting the ways male socialization impacts how fathers present for services. Participants will leave with specific interventions and skills to use right away!

Mark Pooley

How DNA Is Used in MMIP Cases

How to build trust in Indian country by using DNA testing to assist law enforcement in Missing Person cases.

CONFERENCE WORKSHOPS

Pam "Nytro" Musler

Helping Wounded Children Overcome Fear

This interactive workshop introduces attendees to Bikers Against Child Abuse (B.A.C.A.) and its mission of empowering children who have experienced abuse to feel safe and supported. Participants will view a brief video overview of the organization and its impact. A mock Level I presentation will demonstrate how members are introduced to a child, with opportunities for audience participation. The session will also explore what B.A.C.A. does and does not do when supporting children and families. Attendees will learn about the organization's history, international reach, and growth across multiple countries. Real-life stories will highlight the positive difference B.A.C.A. makes in the lives of children. Handouts and door prizes will be provided throughout the workshop.

Stacee Read-NaCoa

Hope, Healing, and Resilience: Supporting Native Children Impacted by Parental Addiction

Too often, Native children impacted by parental substance use go unseen. Explore impacts, resources, and practical strategies to support these children in this interactive session.

Blue Key IT

Internet Safety. More details will be announced.

CONFERENCE WORKSHOPS

Dodie Blomberg

Walking Besides Them: Strengthening Families with Positive Discipline

Rather than pulling or pushing kids, walking beside them is where real connection grows. Have fun gaining concrete tools and skills to empower you and your children.

Cherokee Brown

From Historical Harm To Collective Healing

Interactive workshop exploring Indigenous historical trauma, resilience, and culturally informed pathways to healing, strengthening families, and building healthier communities.

Randy Begay

Strengthening Connections, Building Hope: Suicide Prevention Through CARE Centers

Six Key Areas of Suicide Prevention.
1. Cultural Identity & Belonging – Strengthen students' connection to Apache culture, family, community, and traditions.
2. Positive Relationships – Build trust through consistent, caring relationships with Success Coaches and supportive adults.
3. Trauma-Informed Support – Recognize the impact of adverse childhood experiences (ACEs) and provide safe, supportive CARE Center environments.
4. Emotional Wellness & Resilience – Help students develop coping skills, emotional regulation, confidence, and hope.
5. Family & Community Connections – Strengthen partnerships with parents, caregivers, tribal programs, and behavioral health services.
6. Early Identification & Crisis Response – Recognize suicide warning signs, respond with care, and connect students to qualified mental health professionals following school safety protocols.

CONFERENCE WORKSHOPS

Nourishing and Nurturing Healthy Fathers and Healthy Families

Through traditional teachings and wellness practices, fathers learn to nurture positivity, nourish their inner balance, build resilience, and cultivate a healthy mindset. This nourishing and nurturing approach forms the foundation for creating family environments rooted in safety, love, and shared wellbeing. Participants in this session will walk away with insight and knowledge about how supporting fathers and their well-being can be a very effective way to strengthen relationships with their children and families.

Hank Richardson

KIS-Knowledge Is Sacred/Keep It Sunshine (Empowering Our Youth)

Led by Hank Richardson, North Dakota Prevention Specialist and Director of the MHA Underage Drinking Prevention Program, this workshop equips families, youth advocates, and community leaders with evidence-based strategies to empower youth, strengthen protective factors, and promote resilience through the Youth Are Sacred and Sources of Strength curriculums. Participants will gain practical, actionable tools for youth engagement, skill building, and culturally responsive prevention efforts grounded in the SAMHSA Strategic Prevention Framework and North Dakota Behavioral Health prevention initiatives.

Diana Billy-Elliott

Indigenous Wellness Alliance Inc. Re-Entry Program

Indigenous Wellness Alliance (IWA) provides a weekly Re-Entry Program designed to support participants as they transition back into the community and work toward stability, independence, and successful reintegration. Participants receive guidance, resources, and encouragement focused on accountability, employment, housing, healthy relationships, life skills, and building a positive future. IWA exclusively uses NAFFA Re-Entry Curriculum

Keynote Biography

Frantz Beasley is the Founder and Executive Director of Prison 2 Praise Ministries, a faith-based nonprofit focused on restoring the lives of justice-impacted individuals and strengthening families affected by incarceration. A formerly incarcerated leader, Frantz experienced a life-changing transformation rooted in accountability, faith, and a commitment to honor those impacted by harm. His work centers on reentry, workforce development, trauma-informed mentorship, and survivor-centered restoration, ensuring the voices of victims remain at the forefront of rebuilding lives. Frantz is a national advocate for survivors of violence and exploitation and has led awareness efforts across the country, including a 4,100-mile walk to honor missing and murdered women and girls and raise awareness of trafficking and violence. He is currently preparing for a national walk to further amplify the voices of survivors and families.
